

WeRateDogs - Act Report

There were 3 insights discovered: Highest and lowest rated dogs based on cuteness overload, highest retweeted & favourite liked dogs and sum of cuteness overload by breed.

For the first two insights, please read my Woof Woof Ranking Statistics document attached*. All findings presented there (with the exception of the additional information text box) is coming from the 'goodboi' dataframe. This dataframe is based on the master file, twitter_archive_master.csv

*Please note that the randomly generated dog names can be understood interchangeably since they're based on the latest run of my wrangle act jupyter notebook.

For the last insight, the clean and combined dataset was grouped to showcase the total cuteness overload for each breed:

It is evident that golden retriever is critically acclaimed as the breed with the highest cuteness overload with more than 200 total cuteness. However, the other dogs are not far behind with labrador and pembroke being second and third respectively.